The emperor Francis Joseph. ever a God-fearing man, proceeded to obey, when he was beset by the Russian ezar This would not have seemed so strange if the Russian czar had not presented absolute proof that God had told him to open fire on the Austro-Hungarians for attacking Servians. A day or two later, God told the German emperor to murder Russians who had obeyed his order to murder Austro-Hungarians Matters were still further complicated by God telling France to murder Germans who had obeyed his order to murder Russians. God, thoroughly aroused by this time, ordered the Germans to devastate Belglum with fire and sword. Great Britain, caring nothing for trade or commercial supremacy, listened intently for a still, small voice and heard God's order to murder Germans for obeying the order of God to kill Belgians. We hope there will be no further controversy as to who started the war. It was God. The crowned heads and big wigs of Europe do not agree as to the method of reaching this conclusion, but each in his own way, reaches this conclusion. When kings have spoken, common men should be slient

Socialists are not common men therefore they do not remain slient. Socialists are mostly ignorant, vicious and murderous.

The Socialist view of this war is that it was started for reasons so base that the men who started it dare not tell the truth about it. The Socialists believe that the handful of men who own and rule Germany, the handful of men who own and rule England, and the handful of men who own and rule each of the other belligerent countries, fell out with each oth-er over the question as to which should get the profits from selling goods to the rest of the world.

The Socialists believe there is nothing at the bottom of this war except profits. They blame the capitalist system for the profits. because the system turns over the great industries of each nation to a little group of capitalists who have no other incentive to correct them than their deto operate them than their desire to reap profits. That little groups of capitalists, were able to hurl hundreds of millions into war is explained by Socialists by the
